DEFINITE MOVE ON HIGH GRID GAME DEFERRED

East Liverpool to Act On Wellsville Proposal.

KINSEY ABSENT

B. G. Ludwig Expects Decision Within Two Weeks.

Definite action on whether to sever football relations with Wellsville high school or offer the down-river school a two-year contract, will probably be taken by the athletic board of control of East Liverpool high school within the next two weeks. Principal B. G. Ludwig, chairman of the board, said today.

Dr. C. F. Kinsey, one of the two board of education representatives on the athletic board, is on a two weeks' vacation in Canada, and Ludwig said it was unlikely the latter organization would meet until he returns.

Wellsville board of education members said today "the next move is up to East Liverpool."

Far Apart on Contract

A two-year football contract between the two schools expired with the Thanksgiving day game of 1933. Shortly after the contest, Faculty Managers J. M. Decker and Wade Carpenter of East Liverpool and Wellsville, respectively, began negotiations.

When Carpenter resigned recently to accept a similar position at Toronto, the schools were as far apart on a 1934-35 contract. Acting upon instructions from the board of control, Decker offered Wellsville a one-year contract for a game here this year, the local school to take 60 per cent of the receipts.

The contract came before the Wellsville board of education, which said it would not transact business with the local board of control. In a letter to the local board of education, the Wellsville school officials expressed the opinion that negotiations should be carried on between them.

Recently, the East Liverpool school body voted to sustain the athletic board in any move it made.

When Carpenter was in Wellsville, he said that the down-river school favored a new two-year contract on the old basis. This called for a game here and one in Wellsville, the home team to take 60 per cent of the receipts each year.

Hope to Continue Relations

Ludwig said today, "Our school does not wish to sever relations with Wellsville, but we do think the game should be played here each year, or as long as our accommodations are such as they are."

Resides Ludwig, the board of control includes Superintendent H. G. Means, Faculty Manager Decker, Coaches Leland Schachern and Thomas Dixon and Dr. Kinsey and George Brian, representing the board of education.

Since last January 1, Richard B. Smith and Malcolm W. Thompson, who underwrote notes to secure funds for the new stadium, have been serving as members. However, they have a vote only in matters concerning the stadium, Ludwig said.

Prince Frederick Christian von Schaumburg-Lippe, personal adjutant to Minister of Propaganda Joseph Goebbels, who assertedly is being considered for appointment as the new German ambassador to the United States, is pictured in Berlin with his wife, Princess von Schaumburg-Lippe. If appointed, he will succeed Dr. Hans Luther.

BERLIN WAITS HITLER'S TALK

Chancellor to Address Reichstag Members On Friday.

By The Associated Press. BERLIN, July 12.—A Germany more critically minded than it has been for months waited somewhat tensely today for Adolf Hitler's own explanation of the June "purgings" of his storm troops.

Some observers feel that when Hitler addresses the Reichstag tomorrow night he will be facing a major crisis of his chancellorship. Official statements have applauded Hitler's action in the execution of storm troop leaders, but many questions are unanswered in the public mind, and Germans are looking to Hitler himself to answer those questions to their satisfaction in the Reichstag speech.

Storm troops wonder who is going to guarantee the Nazi program will be put into effect with their pioneer leaders gone. At the same time non-Nazis, who hitherto have regarded Hitlerism tolerantly, want assurance as to the future.

A widespread demand from the public to know what is really happening was apparent from a flock of official pronouncements against "rumor-mongering."

The German press, turning to foreign affairs, launched an attack on France because of the visit to London of Louis Barthou, French foreign minister, and his apparent arrival at an understanding with the British.

COSTLY FIRE AT GREENVILLE, PA.

$150,000 Blaze Sweeps Steel Car Plant, Throwing 450 Workers Out of Employment.

By The Associated Press. GREENVILLE, Pa., July 12.—Approximately 450 were made jobless when a $150,000 fire swept the plant of the Greenville Steel Car company.

Plant officials said the work of rehabilitating probably will require several months. An explosion in the paint shop, where 25 men were at work, preceded the fire last night. All escaped, together with 100 men in other parts of the plant.

NRA Board Speeds Big Job of Completing Codes Within 30 Days

Time Limit Set by General Johnson Before Starting Speaking-Vacation Trip.

By The Associated Press. WASHINGTON, July 12.—NRA focused every energy today on the big job of completing blue eagle code-making within 30 days.

"We are all set," said Robert K. Straus, youthful chairman of the three-man committee named by Hugh S. Johnson for the clean-up task. "Every division of NRA is pushing the plan," Straus said. "We want to clean up every code in the building in 30 days."

FIVE HURT IN NEW BOMBINGS IN AUSTRIA

Outrages Reported as Anti-terror Drive Is Started.

AUTO BLASTED

Germany Denies Nazi Minister Advised To Return.

By The Associated Press. VIENNA, July 12.—Two new bombing outrages were reported in Austria today, only a few hours after Chancellor Dollfuss had announced a new anti-terror campaign with the death penalty for possession of explosives.

Five persons, four of them tourists, were injured at Salzburg, when a bomb destroyed the automobile of a member of the Dollfuss "Fatherland Front" organization.

Another bomb shattered many windows and slightly damaged a priest's house at Buer, in western Austria.

Meanwhile the German legation here issued a firm denial of reports that the minister had been notified to prepare to return to Berlin and said such instructions are not expected.

Tavern Partially Wrecked. The car at Salzburg was parked in front of a small tavern near the pictures "Klosterbau," a beer hall well known to most Americans who have visited Salzburg.

The tavern was partially wrecked and the automobile was blown to bits. The tourist members of the group were arriving at Salzburg from Graz. All were Austrians.

The fifth victim was a 12-year-old girl who had just been sent from home to the tavern for beer.

Berlin, Vienna Relations Hit. Relations between the German and Austrian governments have not been helped by Dollfuss' intensified determination to crush Nazism in Austria. To aid in his campaign against Austrian Nazis the little chancellor, cloaked with greater powers now under the reorganization of his government this week, has taken over all police and military powers. Major Emil Fey, often called the "iron man" of the government, is "general commissar for extraordinary security," with special authority to strike in carrying out Dollfuss' orders.

Yesterday Fey's newspaper, "Abendzeitung," carried an editorial which said Austria must safeguard herself because of "the anarchy" that prevails in Germany.

"The time has come," the paper said, "to consider what is to be done to extinguish the center of contagion."

Bombing, widespread in recent months, have ceased during the last few days, but many political observers predict a new wave of them to signify opposition to Dollfuss.

PAINTER FACES TERM IN JAIL

Cleveland Bank Director to Appeal Conviction on Contempt of Court Charges.

By The Associated Press. CLEVELAND, O., July 12.—An order committing Kenyon V. Painter to jail for 10 days was ready for signature today as the capitalist's attorneys prepared an appeal on his conviction of contempt of court.

They planned to seek a stay of execution in the appellate court. Painter was found guilty by Common Pleas Judge Samuel H. Silver of contempt on four counts of evasion and obstructing justice in a referee's hearing to determine hidden assets to satisfy Painter's $2,300,000 debt to the closed Union Trust company, of which Painter was a director and largest stockholder.

On one count the judge sentenced Painter to 10 days in jail, and find him $500 and costs. Sentence on the other counts was suspended.

JURY RETURNS MURDER VERDICT

Herbert Thacker, 21, Convicted at Jackson in Slaying of Robbery Victim.

JACKSON, O., July 12.—A jury today convicted Herbert Thacker, 21, of first degree murder without a recommendation of mercy for the slaying of Stephen Huntley, 74-year-old farmer, during a robbery which netted Thacker and his companion just $23.

The verdict makes a sentence of death in the electric chair mandatory. Huntley was killed in his barn on June 4.

Thacker, testifying in his own defense, admitted that he and Ray Freeman, 25, attacked Huntley in his barn and beat him fatally with the stocks of their guns. Freeman will go on trial on a first degree murder charge next Monday.

VIENNA DICTATED ADDS TO POWER

Emil Fey, Chancellor Dollfuss, Prince von Starhemberg

With the resignation of his cabinet, Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss of Austria, center, is forming a new government with even greater dictatorial powers concentrated in his hands. Dollfuss takes over four portfolios in the new cabinet, in which Emil Fey, left, minister of public safety, and Prince Ernst von Starhemberg, right, vice chancellor, remain, shorn of power, through the elimination of the Heimwehr, or Fascist home guard, which they head.

ARKANSAS BAD GIRL KILLED

Helen Spence Eaton, Fugitive, Shot By Guard.

By The Associated Press. JACKSONVILLE, Ark., July 12. Helen Spence Eaton, 21-year-old Arkansas bad girl, who said she never would be captured alive, has kept her word.

She is dead—shot down by a guard 24 hours after she fled from the state prison farm for women. He said he fired when she reached into her blouse for a pistol.

The former White river shanty boat girl, twice convicted of murder, had escaped from prison four times before. On this last attempt for freedom, she left a note, saying: "I'll never be taken alive."

Frank Martin, a trusty assigned to guard her, overtook the girl late yesterday, nine miles from the prison farm. The shooting followed.

Martin, himself serving a 21-year sentence for murder, was exonerated.

The pistol Helen had taken from Martin's quarters just prior to her escape had not been removed from a belt inside the blue denim blouse she wore, when Coroner L. C. Ady viewed it three hours after the slaying.

First convicted of the courtroom slaying of Jack Worris, who allegedly killed her father, Cicero Spence, Helen was free awaiting outcome of her appeal when the slaying of Jim Bohots, Dewitt restaurant owner, occurred. It went for two years and then one day, while on parole from the sentence for Worris' slaying, Helen walked into Little Rock police headquarters and confessed she killed Bohots because he made improper advances to her.

TRUCK DRIVERS JOIN IN STRIKE

3,700 Workers on Pacific Coast Quit Work in Sympathy With Longshoremen.

By The Associated Press. SAN FRANCISCO, July 12.—Threats of a general strike increased today as 3,700 truck drivers of San Francisco Bay cities walked out to tighten the commerce blockade of striking Pacific coast maritime workers.

The action of the teamsters' unions of San Francisco, Oakland, Berkeley and Alameda came despite an appeal of a federal labor dispute board which reported its first definite step toward possible settlement of the strike which has crippled coast shipping.

Union after union on both sides of San Francisco bay and in Portland, Ore., fell in line towards a possible several strike by delegating authority for action to "strategic" committees.

The San Francisco waterfront, patrolled by national guardsmen, was quiet, but at Portland, where blood was shed for the first time since the longshoremen started the strike May 9, shots were fired at a police patrol boat. Four men were wounded by buckshot from police guns.

By The Associated Press. COLUMBUS, O., July 12.—Four hundred cars of potatoes will be distributed to needy Ohio families during the next few weeks, the state relief commission said today.

Each of 200,000 families expected to receive about 15 pounds of potatoes, weekly.

The proposed budget for the 1934-35 term was set at $1,095, of which $1,005 has been subscribed. ATLANTIC CITY REPORTS HINT 20 PER CENT

Brotherhood Session Pledges Support Of NRA Code.

WORK IS RUSHED

One Per Cent Defense Fund Plan Wins Approval.

By The Associated Press. ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 12.—The National Brotherhood of Operative Potters today unanimously adopted a resolution in favor of an advance in wages to practically every craft in the industry.

The brotherhood, however, declined to commit itself as to the amount of increase, but it is believed to average about 20 per cent.

The matter will be threshed out at the joint conference between representatives of the brotherhood and the employers in August.

The convention discussed the pottery code, unanimously adopting a resolution to observe all of its provisions.

Group Insurance Supported. The convention not only pledged itself to observe the code, but to report any and all violations of it.

A number of pottery plants now carry group insurance on their employees. A resolution offered recommending that employers drop their group insurance because of alleged influence it gives employers over them was unanimously rejected.

Another resolution offered prohibiting a craft's having more than one representative on the executive board, also was rejected on the grounds the officers who are members of the board are elected by the trade at large.

The convention abandoned what is known as the flat defense assessment plan in operation since 1923, whereby skilled workers paid amounts not exceeding 40 cents a week to the national organization and semi-skilled and non-skilled paid 20 cents a week.

Constitution is Amended. The convention substituted for this what is known as the one per cent plan, whereby members of the organization after August 1, will pay one per cent of their actual earnings. This plan in effect up until 1923, was abandoned because of wholesale evasions, it was said.

The convention amended the constitution to permit any member of the organization, no matter where he resided, to contest for the office of president, vice-president and secretary-treasurer.

The stone and art ware workers asked the executive board to petition the stone and art ware manufacturers for a uniform national wage agreement, the purpose of which, it was stated, is to stabilize wages and eliminate "chiseling" in the craft.

The request was granted.

Buck Forces Python To End Hunger Strike

By The Associated Press. CHICAGO, July 12.—Josie, the python, was and still is homesick. That is why the reptile, which is 25 feet long and weighed 350 pounds when captured a year ago in the Malay jungle, refused to eat, attendants at the World's Fair explained.

The hunger strike lasted from the time the snake was placed aboard a steamer at Singapore four months ago until yesterday, when Frank Buck, the big game hunter, with the aid of 14 assistants, forced 40 pounds of raw beef down Josie's throat. Several of the feeders were bitten, but were not badly hurt.

Josie is down to a mere 200 pounds now.

Back Home

CLAREMORE, Okla., July 12.—I never get through the thrill of coming back home, seeking kin folks and old friends.

Nature has been rough with the ranchmen and farmers here. The drouth waited the corn just as it was starting to "roast in ear."

I asked about the wheat and oats, and some other Republican scourge had fallen on them; no grass for the cattle; but they did have an awful nice radish crop. Never saw redder radishes.

All I know is just what I read in the Claremore Progress. See where Speaker Rainey of the house of representatives has been kinder beating the political bushes around here. Wish I had been home; he is a mighty lovely old gentleman. Its awful hot to be campaigning. I would let the Republicans do all the talking. You lose more votes this weather than you gain.

Yours,

EXCUSE FAILS TO WORK
MINNEAPOLIS—Julius Brinberg had a wholesale respect for the law, especially as it regards parking.

So, he told the judge, each time he parked his car he set an alarm clock to ring in an hour. When it went off, he added, he moved the car.

It was all to no avail. The clock disagreed with the arresting officer's watch and Brinberg paid a $5 fine.

What Is Correct Posture?

The answer to perfect body posture is having the feet in proper balance under the center line of body weight. This center line passes between the osseals and cuboid bones. Originally we walked on the ground and had a definite solid support for this center line of body weight. Then came the Egyptian wood-sandal with its heel elevation, but still providing the rigid support under the center line of body weight. Later came the leather shoe with its wide, strong wood shank, again supporting the all-important center line of body weight. But when shoes were made with weak shanks—or no shanks at all, they subjected the human race to all of the foot troubles and body ailments directly traceable to improper balance. Failure to receive the support it should have, will sooner or later, break down even the strongest foot. The Health Spot in Musebeck Shoes gives support where it is needed—under the center line of body weight. Correct posture is not merely a social demand—it is an absolute necessity to general health.

NEW YORK NIGHT LIFE DEPICTED IN STATE FEATURE

Rothstein Picture Stars Spencer Tracy, Helen Twelvetrees.

"Now I'll Tell by Mrs. Arnold Rothstein," which opened at the State theater Wednesday, will satisfy all types of movie goers—sensation seekers as well as lovers of real life drama.

It bares for the first time things millions of men and women have wanted to know . . . amazing revelations by a woman about the joys, sorrows, heartaches, emotions . . . the great drama of a woman's life behind the scenes of the sporting and night life of New York City.

It sends a great ardor, Spencer Tracy, soaring to stardom on the strength of his powerful portrayal of the picture's protagonist, Murray Golden. It presents a kaleidoscope of drama, comedy, night life and sporting events of New York during the exciting years from 1910 to 1932. In its final denouement, it works up to a tremendous climax with the inexorability of a Greek drama.

Spencer Tracy has been waiting for a role like this to display the full gamut of his dramatic technique. It is a fine, sympathetic characterization. Helen Twelvetrees plays the important part of the wife with a genuine appreciation of its depth. Alice Faye comes through her first dramatic role very well as the "other woman."—R. S. E.

Procedure

Patrons of certain cafeterias in an Ohio city were surprised to discover Tuesday that rolls and slices of bread were being sold from half a cent to a cent higher than the price that had prevailed formerly.

Proprietors explained that bakers had advanced wholesale prices. Bakers replied that the increase amounted to only one cent on small loaves of bread and from two to three cents a dozen on rolls.

On July 3 the baking industry started to operate under the NRA code. On April 10 government crop estimates indicated that the nation's wheat surplus was being exhausted rapidly.

Thus, there are two apparent reasons for an increase in the price of bread, an impending shortage of wheat that is forcing prices higher and increased production prices under NRA.

The department of agriculture estimates that the cost of ingredients in a pound loaf of bread selling at 8.1 cents is 2.9 cents, of which 2.1 cents represents the cost of flour. Several years ago a number of large baking companies reported to the senate committee on agriculture that labor costs inside bakeries represented only 6 per cent of the price.

These estimates tend to show that the price of wheat and labor costs would have to increase sharply to cause any considerable effect on the cost of producing a loaf of bread. There are, however, many other costs to consider, distributing costs, overhead, advertising and other ingredients. All have tended to increase since the advent of NRA.

Perhaps it is unfortunate that the United States has no coinage denomination smaller than one cent. When a baker's costs increase a fraction of a cent he must pass it along to the retailer. The retailer must pass it to the consumer. In the case of a loaf of bread, an original increase of one cent may become, therefore, an ultimate increase of many times that amount.

Heads Will Roll, May Be

Despite the moving picture industry's manifest intention of bending gracefully before the tempest of disapproval aroused by Catholic, Protestant and Jewish leaders, it appears there is a desire to select some individual as a sacrifice to disapproval. The probable selection is slender, energetic Will H. Hays.

Mr. Hays bears by courtesy the title, czar of the films. He holds an important position undoubtedly. Yet, to dethrone him would seem about as effective as to dethrone King George V because the British government had fallen into evil ways. Czar Hays has been a busy man by virtue of his job as president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors association, but he has not been a ruler.

However, he has seen angry hands reaching for his crown before. Along with executive ability he has most of the qualifications of a first-rate diplomat. In short he is able to take care of himself. Perhaps he really is personally responsible for the type of moving picture that has angered religious leaders. Perhaps by jolting off his official head the moral tone of film entertainment would be improved. It would be pleasant to believe the job might be made easy, but it also is amusing to speculate on what Mr. Hays will be able to do to keep his head while certain enemies of long standing are losing it for him.

Training The Help

There are approximately 3,864 positions in the public works administration. All are outside civil service. There are thousands of other positions in the department of the interior, whose secretary, Harold L. Ickes, also is administrator of public works. In other words, Mr. Ickes, who was a lawyer before President Roosevelt made him a cabinet member, is nominally responsible for one of the largest groups of employees in the United States.

Mr. Ickes takes his responsibilities seriously. He bruised his knuckles on several occasions trying to protect his department against the rapacious assaults of patronage dispensers. It is to his credit that he objected, even if he did not sustain his objection. PWA and the interior department have yielded up many plums to Postmaster General Farley and his assistants.

Secretary Ickes still seems to have ideas of his own about public employees, however. A few days ago he ordered an assembly of the help under his authority in Washington. More than 3,000 were present—too many to be within his sight as he spoke, so the overflow heard his remarks via loud speakers placed in corridors.

He had something to say about the propriety of chiseling the government's time, about reluctance to start work early and eagerness to quit work too soon. Recently a female employ was trampled in a rush to get out of the department of the interior building at quitting time. He reminded his listeners that more than 60,000 applicants are waiting for jobs in the interior department and PWA. An employers' market exists.

Bureaucracy is not a pretty business at best. When it is handicapped further by the presence of thousands of persons owing their jobs to politicians and dependent on nothing but the patronage process it may become a very ugly business. Herewith is given a cheer for Secretary Ickes, who apparently has seen his duty and is trying to do something about it. He probably won't have much luck, but he is willing to accept responsibility.

A Probability, Mind You

Dour Phillip Snowden is beating the tocsin. Viscount Snowden used to be one of the British Labor party's hottest propagandists and, as chancellor of the exchequer in the last Laborite government, held the purse strings of Britain in a tight grasp.

There is a probability of revolution in Great Britain, he stated flatly in a recent speech not a possibility but a probability, mind you. "It is no use," he explained, "talking to the people about their political liberty in this country if they are living in slums. My fear of revolution is based first on the failure of parliament to function properly and, secondly, on the fact that the class war and expropriation of the proletariat classes is now being preached everywhere and is arousing the fears of everybody who has anything to lose."

Viscount Snowden's is not the first voice to declare the danger to parliamentary government in Britain. Ever since the rise of Sir Oswald Mosley's fascist group apprehensive politicians, even while trying to laugh fear off of existence, have been muttering apprehensively behind their hands. The viscount is the first to get wide attention, the first to use "probability" instead of "possibility" in speaking of a fascist regime. His remarks, speculative now, are worth remembering. Is it, after all, impossible that the sweep of fascism might cover Great Britain before government by representation succeeds in rehabilitating itself?

Three Out Of Five

The poll on favor for President Roosevelt's policies, conducted by the Literary Digest, has been concluded. A ponderous mass of figures is available to those who like to speculate on things as they are and as they might be.

It is interesting to know that three out of five Americans participating in the poll approve on the whole of Mr. Roosevelt's administration. To Mr. Roosevelt and his advisers it is more than interesting; it is a straw in the mind showing them the direction in which public opinion is going.

Nationally, the difference in the ratio of approval to disapproval has changed in the President's favor, compared with 1932 election ratio. Mr. Roosevelt's total popular vote in 1932 was 22,821,857. Mr. Hoover's was 15,761,851. This, roughly, showed that he was supported by about 44 votes for every 3 votes that were cast for Mr. Hoover. In the Literary Digest poll the new deal is favored by 1,083,752, with 688,411 votes cast against it. This is a ratio of approximately 5 to 3.

Sectionally, the poll shows that the administration has found favor in the more populous states and lost favor in the agricultural regions. This is fine irony indeed. As a politician Mr. Roosevelt would seem justified in concluding that he cannot live without his agricultural brethren nor can he live with them. He has drawn heavily on his administration for agricultural aid, yet he finds that he is losing friends on the farms.

The privilege of knowing in advance what will happen to presidential candidates no longer is exciting. The Literary Digest, in conducting a poll on reaction to a national administration, has furnished a new diversion. In time it may become, like the magazine's quadrennial presidential poll, almost official in its importance. This time, however, its value is problematic. It has revealed that the new deal is still popular and that farmers are difficult to handle, both obvious facts.

A Sweet Note To Finland

In the manner of an international Polonius giving good advice to Laretes, the state department has spoken sweetly to Finland on the subject of indebtedness. The advice, of course, was not intended strictly for Finland, which has been a bright light of honor in international indebtedness. It was intended, rather, to pierce the consciences of such errant governments as those of France, Great Britain, Italy, Germany and their smaller wayward brethren.

"At a time when contractual obligations have been widely disregarded or are too easily subordinated to considerations of brief expediency," Secretary of State Hull wrote, "and to a degree which threatens one of the most important bases of human relations, the consistent steadfastness with which Finland has unhesitatingly met its obligations has been enheartening."

It has indeed, even though Finland's payment of $188,583 scarcely will be worth recording among the vaster figures common in the federal treasury these days. Here is a government that stands out among governments—a government that keeps on paying while others slide into default in a sort of cynical, sinful merriest over old Uncle Sam's discomfiture. Be steadfast, Finland, and become famous.

Today's News Review

Eagles, Ospreys, Crows

In Alberta's huge Jasper Park, Fred Brewster, a Rocky Mountain guide, watches eagles, and ospreys, also called "fish-hawks," sitting on the high limbs of a tree, eagles at the top ospreys below, and still further down plain crows, all watching the lake.

An osprey drops, brings up a fish. Two eagles pursue; the frightened osprey drops the fish. The eagles try to catch it, usually fail. The crows, flying close to the surface in a body never fall always get the falling fish and enjoy it.

There you have our civilization upside down. With us, those nearest the ground get the least, those next above get a little more, and those at the very top get practically everything.

Perhaps we can change that situation in the "new era" as the birds have changed it in a far away Alberta, and enable those near the ground to get the big share, the semi-little men a trifle higher up the next biggest share, while the eagle men on the top branch almost starve to death. Genuinely earnest "cracking down" might accomplish that.

Mr. Morgan's Corsair Sails

J. Pierpont Morgan, of Broad and Wall streets, ordered his big yacht, Corsair, to his front door on East Island, and will cross for a short vacation in England.

Once such a trip might have aroused envy, but no more. The traveling salesman, the "lady buyer" for a department store, almost anybody, may cross on a bigger, faster, finer boat than the Corsair at a very reasonable price.

He wise socialism is that which gives to the big crowd bigger and better ships, parks and hotels than any individual, no matter how rich, could afford for himself.

Also, among Americans of the right kind, a man and woman take pride in improving their own little house or boat, wasting no time in foolish envy of others. There is no real happiness of possession, except in what we earn and what we have.

Mr. Felitto's Taxi Speaks

Samuel Felitto sat at the wheel of his taxicab Tuesday waiting for his customer to come out of a restaurant on Fulton street, New York, little boys were as thick around him as flies, around a sugar bowl.

They stood on the running board, put their heads through the windows of the taxi, and all faces, including that of Samuel Felitto, expressed profound happiness.

The taxi radio was running and giving full details, inning by inning, play by play, of the great "all-star" baseball game that 48,363 were watching in New York's Polo Grounds.

The customer appeared as the broadcaster roared "Medwick makes a home run, scoring three." The radio thunder of the 48,363 "fans" could not drown the yells of the small taxicab audience, shrieking with delight.

There is a real miracle, and a very great marvel. Men become accustomed to everything, but the conquest of time, space and gravitation still surprises them.

New York Day by Day

NEW YORK, July 12.—Grog-shops on the Bowery are flashing window banners of red: "Whiskey—10 cents." The new bars, open so passers-by may see, are filled with the same old soaks that frequented the sunless back-rooms during prohibition. And gulped raw and lethal "smoke."

The change has given the dour highway some of the royster of the days of Suicide Hall and Atlantic Garden. For the beetle-browed restaurateur has been restored to oust sleepers and the more jubilant jags. It's only after midnight that life moves to a minor key.

Then the Bowery takes on something of the pathos and elegiac quality of massed squalor. Drunks snore in hallways and tired women hang out the upstairs windows, seeking some faint scour of breeze. Only the jangle of the elevated sputter overhead breaks the silence.

All-night pawn shops appear listless, for the Bowery has little more to pledge. The dingy restaurants with menus frescoed in white on windows are faint peeps of light. The only glitter comes from the pert, white-tiled 5-cent hamburger towers. But the Bowery is not bothered by depression. Depression has been with it always.

Likely the most enduring friendship out of the days when Park Row was Park Row is that of Burns Mantle, the critic, and Fred Knowles, once managing editor of the Evening Mail. For more than 20 years they have dined together every Thursday, starting off pleasantly enough but winding up in an argument that usually results in a roof-farewell bows. And next Thursday they begin all over again.

Sam H. Harris and George M. Cohan dined together weekly until a misunderstanding sundered their association and friendship of many years. Their rift was patched up by Jim Moore, owner of the restaurant they frequented. Another Broadway pair that dined together weekly for many years was Lee Shubert and the late Melville Ellis.

Across from the Plaza against the park curb tonight only three drooping nags stood in the shafts of their carriages. A year ago there were at least a dozen. One of the jehus—suggesting a venerable Victor Herbert—told me the diminishing guild had hoped the sidewalk cafes would add a puff of life. They heard that the red-wheeled fiacre in Paris depended almost solely upon the terrace trade. But they saw no change. By next summer he believed they would all be gone.

LED THE VAN OF SCHOOL TEACHERS

By J. H. Galbreath

Written For The Associated Press

A fugitive piece of literature that has floated down the news-channels states that the first school teacher in the Ohio valley was a Mrs. Coomes, who conducted a school at Harrodsburg, Ky., the same year the colonies declared their independence. That seemed improbable—but investigation showed it possible.

James Harrod founded Harrodsburg in 1794.

Nothing more is known of Mrs. Coomes, of course it was not a public school, but no doubt was a private enterprise supported wholly by the families who sent their children to it.

Coming over on the Ohio side it is capable of conclusive proof that Major Anselm Tupper, who was one of the better educated members of the Marietta colony established in 1788, taught a school at Marietta in a block house during the winter of 1793-94. Major Tupper leads the line of school teachers in Ohio, no doubt.

Behind The News In

Washington And Wall Street

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, July 12.—The answer to the German riddle can be found where many answers to political problems are hidden—in the upper crust of business influence. You can get an insight into the whole situation by prying into the enigma of von Papen's retention as second man in the Nazi government.

Von Papen is not a Nazi and never was one. He is the only person in Germany who has had the courage to speak out openly against Hitler. But, when Mr. Hitler decided to wash his Nazi hands in blood, he did not dare to touch von Papen. Indeed, he did not even dare to demote von Papen.

Most people laugh at this peculiar situation, by saying it is von Hindenburg who keeps von Papen's countenance at Hitler's side. That is a logical surface explanation, but the roots go much deeper. Von Hindenburg is a tired old man awaiting death. He is much beloved, but only as a name. His influence is ebbing with his life.

There are others who make both Hitler and von Papen dance.

Thyssen

The industrial Ruhr is controlled by two strong business groups. One is the Otto-Wolff-Deutsche bank group. It is Liberal, Jewish, Catholic. The other is the Thyssen-Flick-Volger group. It is Prussian, militaristic and Nationalist. It is no secret now that the Thyssen-Flick-Volger group backed Hitler early in the game and got the upper hand over its business adversaries. Thyssen has been the angel of the Nazis since 1927. It was he who invited Hitler to Düsseldorf, headquarters of the steel men, in 1929, and introduced him to 300 leading industrialists. Again in 1932, he brought Hitler to the same place and presented him to 2,000 German industrialists as "our boy."

When election time came around the Thyssen crowd contributed 3,000,000 marks to the Hitler campaign. That is about all the money Hitler had.

Repayments

No German insider was surprised when the price of coal went up after the election and Thyssen grasped the whole Ruhr. He was made and still is state counselor for west Germany, a new political office superseding all local authorities. He succeeded in abolishing trade unions and has ruled his industrial paradise with quiet shrewdness, while Hitler got the headlines.

Thyssen wisely realized his defeated business adversaries constituted the only menace to his situation. Instead of crushing them, he let them stick a finger in his pie. The choicest plum they drew was Herr von Papen as vice chancellor. (Von Papen himself owns properties in the Ruhr.)

Those who should know something about it say Mr. Thyssen has bigger ideas yet in mind. They believe he dreams of a Germanic racial empire stretching from Lapland to the iron ore of Lorraine, the steel works of western and central Europe, the copper of the Balkans.

If that is really his dream, he must be eating too many lobsters for dinner.

Hitler's Head

The United States diplomatic experts will consider it a miracle if Hitler saves his own head. They believe he has incurred the enmity of so many different groups he may not escape learning himself how it feels to be assassinated.

Little in this line is expected from the Roehm group, but something may come from the relatives of such leaders as von Schleicher and Klausener and many other leaders who admittedly have been executed or have disappeared. Some of these missing relatives dropped from sight at the sound of the first shots and are supposed to be biding their time.

Picking

NRA insiders noted with what care General Johnson picked the five men to stroke the blue eagle in his absence.

One is a friendly army officer; the second, an army officer and a Moline plowboy like Johnson; the third, a bank vice president; the fourth, a General Motors vice president, and the fifth, a labor leader. This quintet will follow the Johnsonian policies, only with less noise. Their economic pedigrees follow:

Col. Lea—in charge of purchase, storage and traffic for the general staff during the war; later with Moline implement company, and then with La Fabrics, Inc.

Lieut. Col. Lynch—General staff of the army, West Point class of 1903.

A. R. Francy, formerly president Oakland Motors and later vice president of General Motors.

George Buckley—Newspaper and magazine publisher; vice president of City Bank Farmers Trust company, New York City.

George Berry—President International Pressmen's union; major of engineers in AEF; one of founders of American Legion.

Notes

The new federal stamps on hunting licenses were drawn by the famous cartoonist, Ding, who is serving in the wild life (mostly game preservation) end of the new deal.

An ex-army officer and song writer walked into Senator Reed's office the other day with a new line of bon mots against the new deal, the first one being: "A code sandwich: Philosophic air between two professors."

An eminent humorist in the new deal was approached recently by a newsmagazine editor for a financial news item. He replied: "I never read newspapers, and I never wind my watch. Other people always save me those troubles by informing me of the results of their efforts." That would qualify him as the laziest man in the new deal, except that he had a newspaper in his pocket at the time.

By JAMES McMULLIN.

NEW YORK, July 12.—The big New York banks still think it's a pretty good idea to stay liquid. June 30th condition statements revealed that the Clearing House institutions' average holdings of cash and government securities equal more than 50% of their deposits.

There's a curious paradox when you compare these figures to those of three months ago. Most of the local banks have increased business loans and discounts in proportion to their assets since March—though not by much. But the gains recorded by the majority of clearing house banks in this direction are more than offset by reductions for comparable items recorded by Chase and National City. These two so-called "new deal banks" cut their combined loans and discounts by $13,000,000 in the second quarter, although their deposits were rising.

Chase's "liquidity ratio" (percentage of cash and government securities to deposits) is now 55% and National City's 54%. Both are still topped by the Guaranty Trust with 58%, but the latter's ratio is steadily coming down.

Bankers who don't like the "reformer" attitude of the Case and City acidly remark that the President ought to tell his friends he's trying to expand credit.

Outlets

The Corn Exchange bank recently cut its interest rate for thrift accounts and experts predict its example will be widely followed. A number of upstate banks are already planning a similar step. Commercial institutions are beginning to believe it's futile to try to compete with savings banks in their own field.

This tendency should have broad and beneficial effects on the corporate capital market. Owners of large thrift accounts will seek new and more profitable outlets for their idle funds—probably in bonds and other investments. The result should be strong demand and higher prices for all sound issues—including new ones.

Trading

An exceptionally large number of Wall Street houses are trading actively in government securities.

This isn't as sporty a game as those which the houses are accustomed to playing. You can't get rich quick that way. You must either be everlastingly alert to take advantage of fractional fluctuations or content to wait a long time for a modest gain. But the players haven't much choice. They can't afford to let their funds gather rust and they're leery of their favorite speculative pastimes until SEC makes its position clearer on market practices.

"It's tough to play rummy at a sixteen-cent a cent when you're used to bridge at a dime a point. But it's either that or nothing."

This increased activity in government securities largely accounts for the jump in brokers' loans in the face of a weak market—ordinarily a danger signal. This phenomenon usually means the suckers are buying stocks with borrowed money but even the suckers show a lamenable lack of interest in market movements at present.

Stir

Dealers who have no new securities to sell because of securities act restrictions are sending emissaries abroad to try to start something.

Distributors' Group Inc.—made up of 1,700 investment brokers scattered through American cities—has a man in London trying to buy big blocks of American common stocks for resale here. So far Europeans haven't been over-anxious to grab his proposition but insiders say that several large negotiations are under way.

A slightly different system is being tried in Canada. In this case an American group is similarly buying large chunks of American securities not held in Canada—but the redistribution is to be handled by Canadian brokers within the dominion. The promoters will benefit from the distribution markup and also from the presumable increase in market activity.

It's a long-distance method of stirring up business but the houses involved say it's the only way they can keep from starvation.

Advisers

The Stock Exchange is having a time trying to sign up 10 non-member advisers sufficiently well-known to give the stunt its full publicity value. Publicity is the main idea.

Among those discussed for the jobs are Bernard Baruch, Al Smith, Floyd Odom, Alfred Sloan, Owen Young, W. A. Harriman, George Whitney of Morgan's and James H. Perkins of National City. It's understood that several desirable candidates show no inclination to front for the exchange—especially as they will have no voice in its affairs.

The idea of teaming outside advisers was borrowed by Richard Whitney and the powers that be from the progressive faction among the members. The latter wanted it done months ago but the authorities were deaf to the time.

Goat

New York hears the house subcommittee charges of "gross misconduct" against General Benny Foulois—air corps chief—may be toned down considerably by the Baker board. It's generally admitted no personal dishonesty can be proved against Foulois but critics suggest he might spill too many beans if put on the spot.

By the way, ask what the administration will do then for a goat on the air mail fiasco.

The Sunlit Road

"As dew to the bloom, and bud to the bee, as scent to the rose, are these memories to me."

It was with gold mined in the days of 1849 and thereafter that the necessary experimentation was carried on that eventuated in the making of the first white ware in East Liverpool by William Bloor. It was the suggestion of William Brunt, Jr., and a fellow gold miner, to his own father, William Brunt, Sr., when the latter's pottery at which he was an assistant following his return from the western mining fields that it might be a good departure "to swim ashore" from his parent's plant, then filled with water from one of the floods of the fifties, and build a plant on dry land, that resulted in his obtaining one of the sections of the sheriff-stold Woodward, Blakey & company pottery.

The elder Brunt is said to have been a bit exasperated at the then suggestion of his son and he in turn retorted that he go and get himself a plant of his own on higher ground and there assume his own responsibility. The son did so. He was successful in his initial manufacturing of yellow ware.

In the meantime William Bloor was developing methods for and finally succeeded in making white ware. It was noted in the Wellsville Patriot of October 30, 1860, there then being no newspaper published in East Liverpool that: "the white ware establishment of William Bloor of East Liverpool is rapidly verging to completion. It has one two-story kiln that is almost 50 feet high. The Rockingham and yellow plant of William Brunt Jr. is now also in operation. With these two plants in full blast together with those of previous erection East Liverpool may be properly denominated as the manufacturing town of the county."

The following spring, April 30, 1861, shortly after the inauguration of Abraham Lincoln and war between the states imminent the Wellsville Patriot again referred to Mr. Bloor's activities as a manufacturer when its editor noted: "Mr. Bloor's white ware establishment at East Liverpool has proved a decided success. Its china and Parian ware are perfect."

Finally Attains Success

Handicapped in his distribution of his newly discovered product Mr. Bloor struggled along through the remainder of 1861. His new ware was of considerable heaviness. He made attempts at artistic shapes and designs. But he could not make headway with the country enmeshed in war. The end came to his East Liverpool plant in 1862. By then many of the plants in the town were experiencing a shortage of workmen by reason of the constant enlistments into the federal service of the able-bodied men of the community.

When William Bloor finally gave up his plant that had been the store and warehouse of the Woodward, Blakey & company it passed into the hands of William Brunt, Jr., who with him had mined gold in California. The latter used it in cooperation with the section that he had been using.

William Bloor, who had previously been located at Trenton, N. J., returned thereafter to that city and there engaged again in the manufacturing of his new white ware. At this war-torn time he was enabled ultimately to make a success and attain wealth. For years after his leaving East Liverpool many residing here kept some specimens of the first white ware which William Bloor initially turned out at his East Liverpool plant. It is said that these were ever shown with pride.

It is also recalled that some small ornamental mugs, thus made, had picture decorations upon them with blue panel lines. These were said to be such as ever to make a creditable showing. It is also said of them that they could be compared favorably with white ware made some 10 years thereafter.

During his operation of his East Liverpool plant William Bloor built one kiln and then added to his section a clay shop. All these he used in his work of developing the first white ware that was made in East Liverpool. During the excitement that must have prevailed in local circles among pottery workers at the successful outcome of the experiment of making white ware here John Goodwin and Enoch Bradshaw were the mayors of the town in which this experiment had become an accomplishment.

SEN. DILL TO QUIT POLITICS

Washington's Senior Legislator to Retire From Office at End Of Term in 1935.

By The Associated Press. SPOKANE, Wash., July 12.—Senator C. C. Dill, Democrat and Washington's senior senator, today announced his retirement from politics.

Only "some pressing issue in congress affecting this state that demanded the help that only a senator of experience and prestige could give," would induce him to run for office again, he said. First elected to the senate in 1922, his term expires in 1935.

WASH OUT 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES

Win Back Pep... Vigor... Vitality

Medical authorities agree that your kidneys contain 15 MILES of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy.

If you have trouble with too frequent bladder passages with scanty amount causing burning and discomfort, the 15 MILES of kidney tubes need washing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and vitality, getting up nights, lumbago, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and distress.

If kidneys don't empty 3 times every day and get rid of 4 pounds of waste matter, your body will take up these poisons causing serious trouble. It may knock you out and lay you up for many months. Don't wait. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS... which has been used successfully by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. They give quick relief and will help to wash out the 15 MILES of kidney tubes.

But don't take chances with strong drugs or so-called "kidney cures" that claim to fix you up in 15 minutes, for they may seriously injure and irritate delicate tissues. Insist on DOAN'S PILLS... the old reliable relief that contain no "dope" or habit-forming drugs. Be sure you get DOAN'S PILLS at your druggist. © 1934, Foster-Milburn Co.

Cincinnati's Face Red As Police Enforce Traffic Safety Rules

Two Officials Cruise About Town, Spot Violations and Whisper Warnings.

By The Associated Press. CINCINNATI, O., July 12.—"Is my face red?" became the question of the hour in Cincinnati today as the police tried out their method of enforcing traffic safety.

Chuckling at the sensation they caused, two police officials cruised about town spotting traffic violations. As they spotted, they whispered words of caution or reproval into a microphone. The public address system their automobile carried sent their voices bellowing down the streets and Cincinnati's face was red—plenty.

For instance—A comely lass tripped gaily across an intersection. From nowhere, it seemed, a voice bellowed in tones audible a block away:

CHIEF RED FOX GUEST OF LIONS

Descendant of Indian Who Fought Against Custer Addresses Service Club Luncheon.

"Under a new type of leadership, the American Indian is just now coming into his own as a citizen and a freeman," Chief Red Fox, full-blooded Sioux Indian told members of the Lions club in an address at the weekly dinner-meeting of the club at Mackey's restaurant in Mulberry street, Wednesday night.

Born in 1870 in the Dakota territory in which is now South Dakota, Chief Red Fox was the son of a famous Indian chief, who fought against Custer in his last fight in 1876. Red Fox himself took part in the last Indian uprising, which was the battle of Wounded Knee in South Dakota in 1890.

Chief Red Fox was educated at Carlisle Indian school, Carlisle, Pa., and has been in nearly every state in the union. He served with a machine gun company in France during the World war, going through the Argonne, Chateau Thierry, St. Mehl and other of fenses.

"The Indian has only respect for the American government," Red Fox said. Now we are free, under a bill signed by President Roosevelt two weeks ago, and we shall become real American citizens. I would like to see every Indian reservation in this country abolished for the good of the Indian himself."

Chief Red Fox is filling a two-day engagement at the American theater.

THE PREVAILING PATTERN

A FASHION AS ORIGINAL AS THIS SCARF IS RARE PATTERN 1920

BY ANNE ADAMS

We hear a lot about new fashions, but it is not often that one sees something as new and original as the clever draped scarf in this good looking frock. It is just about the most becoming thing a woman ever put on... soft in position because the tabs keep it so. This time it is developed in a twin print... it is nice, too, in a plain fabric of contrasting color and even in the material of the frock. And besides the scarf... the frock itself is very cleverly constructed to give its wearer good lines and make her smart.

Pattern 1920 is available in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 16 takes 3 1/2 yards 36 inch fabric and 5/8 yard contrasting. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE.

The smartest warm weather fashions, the newest fabrics, and the Summer season's outstanding accessories are illustrated and described in the NEW ANNE ADAMS PATTERN BOOK FOR SUMMER. Painful Piles

Go Quick—No Cutting—No Salves

If you think an operation is always the only way to escape the misery of torturing Piles, it's because you haven't heard of Hem-Roid the harmless internal medicine discovered by a western physician.

After years of study Dr. J. S. Leonard was convinced that the cause of Piles was internal—bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel—the hemorrhoidal veins filled with stagnant blood—and that the right and safe way to get freedom from Pile agony was to remove the cause with an internal medicine. Immediately the doctor set to work to find the remedy. He succeeded and called his prescription HEM-ROID.

Pile sufferers everywhere are benefitting by Dr. Leonard's discovery, so why doubt or delay longer when Mathews Chit Rate and all druggists say: "No matter what kind of Piles you have, one bottle of HEM-ROID tablets must show you the safe clean way to get rid of your pile misery or money back."

YOU BET THERE'S A DIFFERENCE IN GASOLINES!... HERE'S PROOF!

WHERE THE GOING WAS TOUGH—Bear Mt., N.Y., where 9 leading gasolines competed to see which could pull a 3,400 lb. load farthest up a steep mountain grade. Gulf won!

Don't let anyone tell you that it makes little difference which gasoline you use! There's a big difference in even the best-known brands. To prove it, Gulf made a series of power tests with 33 gasolines—and uncovered some facts worth knowing. Read them!

NOTHING gives a gasoline a harder fight than a tough hill—that's where a gasoline proves its power.

For that very reason, Gulf chose 15 of America's toughest hills for a series of show-down power tests—in which 33 gasolines fought it out.

On each of these hills, leading gasolines from local service stations competed to see which could take a car and heavy load farthest up hill in high gear before the motor "died."

The results are summed up in the chart below—and all results were certified by a local Notary Public. Study that chart.

Here is plain, unpainted evidence—evidence which shows beyond question that it does make a difference which gasoline you put into your tank—a difference you can notice in your motor! Next time try Gulf!

The NEW GULF wins more power tests than 32 gasolines combined

IF YOUR BREATH HAS A SMELL YOU CAN'T FEEL WELL

When we eat too much, our food decays in our bowels. Our friends smell this decay coming out of our mouth and call it bad breath. We feel the poison of this decay all over our body. It makes us gloomy, grouchy and no good for anything. What makes the food decay in the bowels? Well, when we eat too much, our bile juice can't digest it. What is the bile juice? It is the most vital digestive juice in our body. Unless 2 pints of it are flowing from our liver into our bowels every day, our movements get hard and constipated and 1/2 of our food decays in our 25 feet of bowels. This decay sends poison all over our body every six minutes.

When our friends smell our bad breath (but we don't) and we feel like a whipped tomato, don't use a mouthwash or take a laxative. Get at the cause. Take Carter's Little Liver Pills which gently start the flow of your bile juice. But if "something better" is offered you, don't buy it, for it may be a calomel (mercury) pill, which loosens teeth, gripes and scalds the rectum in many people. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name and get what you ask for—25¢. ©1934, C.M.C.

DUNDEE ORDERED TO MEET TEDDY YAROSZ

Monacan Elated At Ruling

Title Bout Must be Held Within 30 Days.

By ROBERT ELLIOTT, Sports Editor, The Review.

As had been expected in most quarters, the New York state boxing commission has ordered Vince Dundee of Baltimore, world's middleweight champion, to fight Teddy Yarosz of Monaca for the title within 30 days or forfeit his crown.

The commission apparently is not concerned where the title bout shall be held for it made no provision concerning the site in its ruling.

The state commission's ruling is expected to be followed by a similar edict from the National Boxing association, high moults of the title sport. In most of the 48 states, The New York ruling, by itself, means simply that unless Dundee fights Yarosz within a month, he will no longer be recognized as champion in that state. New York is not affiliated with the N. B. A.

Foutts, now with Yarosz, who is in training at Conneaut lake, said "I have been after the commission for months to get this break. I will sign for the match any place, but prefer Pittsburgh as it will draw between $50,000 and $100,000. It looks as though Waxman (manager of Dundee) is on the spot, as the National Boxing association will undoubtedly make the same ruling. Yarosz was elated at the news. He is in marvelous condition."

The commission's ruling carries more than the usual amount of interest to local fans, for Yarosz is scheduled to fight at Patterson field here on Thursday night, August 9. A local committee will see Foutts tonight at Conneaut to determine whether Yarosz will go through with the battle here, in view of the commission's ruling.

If Foutts thinks it better to postpone the battle here, an attempt will be made to have Yarosz fight in East Liverpool as soon after the Dundee scrap, if it materializes, as possible.

Yarosz and Foutts will leave Conneaut to be booked for Chicago, where Teddy is booked to meet Tilt Littman, a veteran light heavyweight, on Wednesday night, July 18.

They will return to Conneaut following the Littman scrap and prepare for another battle in Milwaukee on August 2.

Semi-Final Play In Golf Tourney

Four Women Survive In State Event At Toledo.

By The Associated Press. TOLEDO, July 12.—Semi-final play in the annual Ohio women's golf championship gets under way today to decide the two leading Buckeye women for the final round over 36 holes Friday.

Swinging into the semi-finals are Mrs. Thornton Emmons, of Columbus, the defending champion, who will trade shots with the "dark horse" of the tournament, Miss Isabel Ogilvie of Toledo. In the lower bracket Mrs. Burt Weil of Cincinnati plays Miss Edith Beg of Cleveland.

Yesterday's quarter-final play saw the downfall of another former titleholder, the third to fall in the last two days. This time it was Miss Mary K. Browne of Cleveland, but she succumbed only after the gamest kind of a fight, losing to Miss Beg, 1 up.

To gain the semi-final Mrs. Emmons defeated Miss Janet Shock of Dayton, 2 and 1; Miss Ogilvie won from Mrs. George Harbaugh of Cleveland by the same score. Mrs. Weil turned back a club mate, Mrs. Ralph Goodwin by 3 and 2.

While all the matches were closely contested, it was the Beg-Browne match that had a gallery of some 500 persons running around in circles.

WELLSVILLE IN 5 TO 3 VICTORY

Wellsville's American Legion junior baseball team scored a 5-3 victory over East Palestine in the down-river city on Wednesday. Out hit 10-6 by the visitors, Wellsville cashed in on six East Palestine errors.

W. Nelson yielded 10 hits, but received perfect support from his mates. Summary: East Palestine 002 100 000—3 10 6; Wellsville . . . 001 012 014—5 6 0; Patton and McCowin; W. Nelson and Chetock.

PRUSOFF FACES CLEVELAND ACE

By The Associated Press. CLEVELAND, July 12.—With the play reaching into the fourth round and the semi-finals, Ohio State tennis tournament found the favorite with John Dorr of Cleveland today. Prusoff reached the quarter-finals by conquering C. H. Webster, 6-2, 6-4. Dorr, the only Clevelander to reach this round as yet, defeated J. Oehlschlager, 6-1, 6-2.

YOUNGSTERS PEP UP PACIFIC LEAGUE

Hustling, bustling lads in their late teens and very early 20's are thrilling Pacific Coast league owners and fans. Joe Di Maggio, 19 (right), San Francisco Seals outfielder, his brother Vince, 21 (left), Hollywood flychaser, and First Baseman Elly Dahlgren, 21 (center), of the San Francisco Missions are three of the outstanding youngsters.

Behind Bernard Campbell's second three-hit mound performance within a week, Hall Chinas blanked the Traction, 1-0, Wednesday, and enabled Riverview Greenhouse to climb in first place in the East End Softball league race.

Campbell was never in danger, and after Hall's had scored in the second on successive doubles by Kimble and Carson, the game was over. Paul Nesselrode hurled his first game for Traction, and really deserved a better fate than defeat. He yielded only six hits.

Riverview Greenhouse scored its fifth win in six starts by downing Crockery City, 5-3. Rariden and Finley of Riverview and Brown, Buck and Campbell of Crockery City each rapped out a pair of hits. Seven C. C. errors figured in the Riverview scoring.

Only 15 Civil War Vets In Ohio Home

SANDUSKY, July 12.—Only 15 Civil war veterans remained at the Ohio Soldiers' and Sailors' Home here after the recent death of William Deal, 87, one of the oldest members of the home. Deal was born in Wayne county, W. Va., Oct. 11, 1846.

Locals Rally To Triumph

Steubenville Routes Wolfe in First Inning Here.

A one-man show, directed and enacted by one Richard Booth, was presented for the edification of a large crowd of baseball fans at Patterson field Wednesday afternoon as the East Liverpool and Steubenville American Legion teams met in the second game of their series.

The locals won the game, 7-6, to sweep the series in two straight victories and thus qualify to meet the winner of a series involving Louisville and Carrollton.

Booth's part in the game was a rather large one, to say the least. Called in to do the pitching after the Stubbers had routed Bill Wolfe in the first inning, Booth twirled sufficiently effective ball to win the decision.

But it was his stick work that stole the show. He slammed out a triple and single in four times at bat, driving in five of the local runs, including the deciding marker in the last of the eighth.

Bob Wolfe batted in the other two local runs with a brace of singles. Bob Campbell fattened his average with a double and triple in two official at bats.

Strikes Out 12
Booth struck out an even dozen batters, yielded eight hits and walked five men.

Young Wolfe didn't have any success at all in his mound job. He issued a base on balls to J. Ealy, the first batter, and then Kirkendall lined a single to left. Wilson hit to Paul Shea in deep short and J. Ealy scored. Kirkendall took third and Wilson went to second when the local shortstop heaved the ball over Porter Mackey's head. Merrymen singled to center to score Kirkendall and Wilson and Wolfe made it exit.

Booth squelched the outburst by whiffing Kelly and Erwine. Ealy walked, but was out on an attempted double steal. Schoolcraft to Paul Shea.

Booth faced only 10 men in the next three innings, fanning five and not allowing a ball to be hit out of the infield. However, Mills, who started on the hill for Steubenville, was mowing down the locals in great style, and it looked as if Booth's fine relief work would go for nothing.

Triple Bring Three In
The Potters had made a mild bid in the first inning when they filled the bases with only one out. Haller dropped the third on Vocai, but Bob was automatically out when he ran for first and Campbell was caught at the plate, Haller, unassisted.

Tyconievich started the local half of the fourth by bouncing out, but Campbell rapped a double to right and went to third when J. Ealy kicked the ball around. Vocai scored Campbell with a base knock to left. Compolo singled through Kelly to send Vocai to third and Merrymen was called in from center field to replace Mills.

Paul Shea drew a walk, filling the bases, and Booth smashed Merrymen's first pitch for a terrific drive into right center, scoring all three runners. Booth, trying for a home run, was out at the plate, but was safe when Haller dropped the ball.

In the fifth, after Merrymen had singled, Booth walked Erwine and B. Early to fill the bases with two out, but Compolo took Haller's fly.

Stubbers Take Lead
The Stubbers took a 6-5 lead in the seventh when they lunched five hits with an error. Mills started off with a single to center and went to third on J. Ealy's line double to left. Kirkendall popped out, but both runners counted on Wilson's single to right. Wilson went all the way to third when the drive got through Tyconievich, and scored on Merrymen's fly to center.

Kelly renewed the attack with a base knock to right and Erwine sent him to third with another safety to the same garden, but B. Ealy's fly was taken by Compolo. The Potters tied the score up again in their half of the seventh when Mackey singled to right with two out, took second when Campbell walked and plated on Vocai's stinging drive to right. The winning center came in the eighth. Paul Shea drew a walk, went to second on a wild pitch after Schoolcraft had whiffed, stole third and scored when Booth lined a terrific single through the box into center.

Steubenville rallied in the ninth. Merrymen singled to left with one hit and took second as Erwine walked after Kelly had bounced out, Vocai to Mackey. Both men advanced on a double steal, but B. Ealy took a third strike to end the game.

Tribe Drops Game to Leaders; Bucs Lose To Giants.

By ORLO ROBERTSON, Associated Press Sports Writer.

With the all-star game a matter of record, major league baseball swung back into full stride today with the first of the annual crucial series looming to test the supremacy of the New York Yankees in the west and the Giants at the Polo grounds.

The Yankees, after making a one-day stop at Cleveland yesterday, defeating the Indians, 9 to 4, were at Detroit for four games.

The Tigers, who have been dodging the Yankees since being displaced as the American league leaders June 25, were only a half game out of first place.

Giants Prep for Cubs.
The Giants, with a slightly longer lead of one and one-half games, had until Saturday before they took up in a five-game series with the Chicago Cubs.

The Tigers had a difficult time beating the Washington Senators, 13 to 7. Starting out with seven runs in the first three innings, they apparently were headed for an easy victory only to have the Senators count seven runs through the fourth, fifth and sixth innings. Mickey Cochrane's men put on a big eighth inning, however, counting six times.

The Cubs picked up a half-game on the Giants by defeating the Boston Braves twice, 3 to 1 and 2 to 1, while the league leaders were triumphing the Pittsburgh Pirates in another close affair, 3 to 2.

Guy Bush was hit freely in the first game, but the Cubs made the most of their five hits off Flint Rhem. The second game was all Pat Malone, who let the Braves down with three hits.

Phil's Beat Cards.
Hal Schumacher's three-hit pitching through the last eight innings and some hefty slugging on the part of Manager Bill Terry and Lefty O'Doul gave the Giants their game.

The Phillies hit Tex Carleton when his meant runs and Phil Collins hurled eight-hit ball as Philadelphia beat the Cardinals 5 to 2.

Ray Benke pitched steady ball to give the Brooklyn Dodgers a 5 to 2 decision over the Cincinnati Reds.

Classic Slatd Saturday

Cavalcade May Clinch Right to Turf Title.

By The Associated Press. CHICAGO, July 12.—Smiling Bob Smith, called the Foxy Grandpa of the American turf, stuck his tongue in his cheek before he decided to answer the question.

"Well, I'll tell you, if he isn't another Man O' War, he will be the next thing to it," he said.

Smith was referring to Cavalcade, leading candidate for the 3-year-old championship of the American turf for 1934. Cavalcade is expected to settle the question beyond doubt with the running of the $45,000 Arlington classic at a mile and a quarter, at Arlington park Saturday.

There is much similarity between Cavalcade and the famous Man O' War. Man O' War was a much bigger horse, but for sheer gameness, for speed, Mrs. Isabel Dodge Slossane's sensational three-year-old does not have to take a back-seat from any of them.

Trainer Smith knows his horse-flesh. Now 66-years old, Smith, ponderous, red faced and bespectacled, bought Cavalcade two years ago for a paltry $1,200. This year alone Cavalcade has won close to $100,000, in winning the Kentucky Derby, the American Derby, and the Detroit Derby.

HOLY NAME IN 14-11 TRIUMPH

Holy Name won a weird Lisbon softball league game from Perkins Markets in 11 innings on Wednesday, 14 to 11. The church team came from behind to push over four runs in the ninth and tied the score at 10-10 and then plated four more in the 11th to cop the decision.

The winners were outbatted, 16-19, but the losers committed no less than 11 errors. Bye clouted a home run. Summary: Holy Name 000 410 014 04—14 10 6; Markets . . . 120 300 400 01—11 16 11; Smith and Fawcett; Nelson and Sexton.

STOCKS MOVE IRREGULARLY

Leading Shares Make Slight Recessions Today.

By The Associated Press.
NEW YORK, July 12.—Stocks moved irregularly in the early dealings today. Volume dwindled as moderate offerings resulted in slight recessions in leading shares. Metals resisted while a few specialties were higher. Alcohols were a bit lower.

National Lead gained two points on top of its wide advance yesterday. U. S. Smelting rose a point while Borden and Coca Cola were up slightly. Minor losses appeared in American Telephone, U. S. Steel, Columbia Gas, International Telephone, Bethlehem, Santa Fe, New York Central, American Commercial Alcohol and Chrysler call money renewed at one per cent.

Grain markets remained the chief interest in speculative quarters. View of the government's small crop estimates. Statisticians questioned whether appreciation in cereal market values would be sufficient to offset the loss of the purchasing power from the reduced yields, although they pointed out the government drought relief and processing taxes would go far to make up the deficit.

COOK HELD IN DEATH OF GIRL

Fraternity House Aid Quizzed in Demise of 20-year Old Oklahoma Beauty Queen.

By The Associated Press.
NORMAN, Okla., July 12.—The county attorney, Paul Updegraff, believes Mrs. Hazel Brown knows more than she has told about the death of Marian Mills, 20-year-old University of Oklahoma beauty queen, and for that reason he ordered her held today as a material witness.
Mrs. Brown, mother of two boys, is a popular fraternity house cook. Mrs. Brown, in a statement which Updegraff made public, disclosed that the girl had taken many doses of an illegally prescribed medicine. The girl was found dead in Mrs. Brown's home, where she had remained overnight with Neal Myers, a pharmacy student, has not been seen since the girl's death late Tuesday.

"Mother! I've found a doll!" he cried.
The "doll" was Garnette. Firemen tried unsuccessfully to revive her.

down of its own weight," the opinion said.

Akron Case Sept. 10
That the finding will have some bearing on the Akron rate case, set down for hearing Sept. 10, was apparent but none of the commissioners was in a position to say how far it will go, although portions of the testimony in the Cleveland case have been accepted by stipulation in the Akron controversy.

The East Ohio Gas company also distributes natural gas to Canton and Youngstown.

The order upholding the 1931 ordinance in Cleveland provided an average reduction in the retail cost of gas by seven cents a thousand cubic feet.

Ordinance Provides Step-up
The commission had stated it included the company's claimed $3,000,000 going concern value in the valuation of the physical property for the Cleveland area at $26,212,909. The company had asserted a valuation of $31,816,783.

Under the ordinance, the set-up is 50 cents a thousand for the first 2,000 cubic feet a month; 55 cents a thousand between 2,000 and 10,000; 60 cents a thousand for all over 10,000 cubic feet; and a monthly service charge of 75 cents.

DENIES RAIL THEFT

ST. LOUIS—Frank Dalton pleaded not guilty to stealing a railroad spur.

Dalton testified he bought the track from a "man named Barron" and, confident that the purchase was bona fide, ordered the 41,000 pounds of rail ripped from the ties and sold.

SUNDAY QUITS BANNED
LINCOLN, Neb.—Lincoln voters will have another chance soon to legalize Sunday moving picture shows but other blue laws—like the one against pitching quito on the Sabbath—will remain on the book.

For the fourth time in 20 years, voters will ballot on the issue August 14. The proposal is short and to the point. It calls for amendment to the present blue laws, striking out reference to the ban on Sunday pictures.

To get Sunday pictures, the voters will have to endorse existing provisions which make it illegal to pitch quito on the Sabbath, to run foot races, to engage in the fast driving of horses or other animals, to play ten pins or indulge in the pitching of quito, to wrestle, box, fish, discharge firearms, beat drums or play other loud sounding instruments.

SUPPLICATION REVISED
DENVER—District Judge Otto Bock has revised the once-familiar supplication "father, dear father, come home with me now." He ruled that a father may take his 15-year old daughter to a beer garden provided he will "see that she gets home early."

The father in the story is Fred W. Ducate. His divorced wife Florence asked for custody of their two children but was denied it.

LIGHTNING KILLS OHIOAN
CIRLEVILLE, O., July 12.—Zachery Smith, 28, father of four, was killed by lightning yesterday while working on the Clay Marsh all farm in Madison township, Pickaway county. Two horses pulling a load of wheat on which Smith was riding also were killed.

Murder at MOCKING HOUSE

BY WALTER C. BROWN

SYNOPSIS: There are many tangled threads about the baffling murder of a policeman and a stranger in the house of a policeman. One of the threads is the disappearance of a mysterious 45-calibre revolver, which seems to lead to Dufresne himself. Sergeant Harper is the more suspicious because Dufresne is too anxious to stop the investigation, and get the police out of his house. Dufresne has called in Harper's superior officers.

Chapter 26
PEACEMAKERS

"Sergeant," the Director began in his booming voice, "Mr. Dufresne has asked me to see what can be done to expedite this inquiry. Of course," he continued quickly, "it has never been my policy to interfere arbitrarily with any man in my department, as you know, Harper, but Mr. Dufresne is an old friend of mine and I want to be as accommodating as I can, especially in view of Mrs. Dufresne's mishap."

"I think it would be inadvisable to move from the scene of the crime under present conditions," Harper replied, quietly but firmly. "But why in Heaven's name?" cried Dufresne. "An not I the one most concerned? There will be no more threatening letters, no more shots from hiding. I don't care who he was or what he was. It is enough to know that he will not trouble us again. He was undoubtedly a homicidal maniac."

"What makes you think so?" Harper challenged.

Dufresne stared in surprise. "What else can we think? You have every characteristic of a violent homicidal maniac."

"Apparently, yes, and of the most virulent type," agreed Harper. "But you forget that we have no proof whatever that the man who was killed last night was the same one who wrote the threatening letters and shot at you yesterday."

Dufresne broke in excitedly. "Sergeant, you are deliberately manufacturing difficulties. To call such a train of events a coincidence is to stretch a remote possibility until it snaps of its own thinness." He snorted his scorn on such an idea.

Captain Macklin had been taking in this verbal tilt intently. From the first he had sensed some underlying current of hostility between Dufresne and the detective. He injected himself smoothly into the conversation. "Harper, have you any direct evidence that this man was not the one who wrote the crank letters?"

"Captain Macklin, I would prefer to make my report privately."

"Come, now, Sergeant," Connors boomed, "there's no need to take that line. There seems to be a little friction between you and Mr. Dufresne. We don't want anything like that."

"Gentlemen," said Dufresne with great dignity, "my wife needs peace and quiet after the shock she had last night. She is the innocent victim of bungling methods."

"Mr. Dufresne," Harper snapped, his temper rising, "you will please remember that I had nothing to do with Mrs. Dufresne's mishap."

"I am not blaming you, Harper. There was nothing personal in my complaint, but the fact still remains."

"Let's not get side-tracked," Macklin resumed. "Is there any such evidence, Harper?"

"Not direct evidence, sir."

"Of course there isn't," Dufresne interrupted again. "What happened in this room last night is plain to be seen. There is no need to twist it into still more fantastic shapes nor in trying to rationalize a madman's actions."

Director Connors waved his big, blunt cigar in the air. "Yes, Harper, if you've got anything substantial to build on, let's hear it."

Harper drew himself up stiffly. "Very well, Director. I have been reluctant to part with this information for fear it would hamper my further work in this case. Maniac or not," he answered impressively, "this man was murdered, not by Officer Hamill, but by a third person who was here in this room. This same unknown person also killed Hamill! The scene was fixed, the evidence tampered with so that it would look as if the two men had killed each other. At first this was only a theory, a suspicion of mine, but now I positively know it to be a fact."

"You have the proof?" Captain Macklin asked with restrained tension.

For reply the detective briefly recounted the doubts he and Carlin had shared concerning the wound in the murdered man's head and how it had led to the recovery of the original 45 bullet and the roll of carpet with the telltale bullet hole.

Harper had been keeping a wary eye on Dufresne during his recital, but the latter appeared as non-plussed as the others.

"This is utter nonsense," he cried. "It cannot be. The bullet that killed this maniac came from the policeman's gun. It was found right here in the room."

The detective held up the steel jacket. "Why was this bullet hidden away so carefully? He stood the roll of carpet by the table. Why does this carpet have a bullet hole through it? We tested our theory of concealed murder by hunting for concealed evidence—and we found it. And we're going to find more of it!"

"But these are not proof," Dufresne continued. "A stray bullet, a hole in some old carpet."

"There are traces. The substitution of bullets is one. It is true there are no fingerprints but this criminal was as astute for that. No doubt he wore gloves. The murderer sat in this room with his victim. They even drank together and perhaps it was at that moment the killer chose to fire. After the murder, the extra glass was washed, dried, and put back in the cabinet. But we have found the glass, with traces of its recent use still in the bottom."

"The murderer's first thought was to melt down the bullet by holding it in the flames of the log fire with these tongs. A systematic effort was made to hide the victim's identity—a ring was forced from this finger, an emblem from his coat lapel, whatever papers, keys or other articles he had were rifled from his pockets. Even the labels were ripped from his own clothes. None of these things has come to light in the house—we assume that the murderer carried them away."

"That is all guess-work, Harper," Dufresne rebutted. "If there was a third person, as you insist, how did he escape from this house after the crime? I'll admit fingerprints can be wiped away but you can't wipe away tracks in the snow."

Harper looked directly at his commanding officers. "I have other evidence that cannot be divulged in this house without seriously injuring our chances of success."

Dufresne sneered openly. "It's fortunate I was under your own police guard last night, Harper, or you would crown this brilliant fantasy of yours by accusing me of being the master mind behind this affair."

Harpers face reddened at the insulting tone which barred these words. He stepped forward so that he stood face to face with Dufresne. "Those two men were murdered," he repeated, "and I am sure that at last one person in this house could identify the man who masqueraded in your likeness. I'll go even further. I believe that you, Mr. Dufresne, are helping to shield that person from us and that is a dangerous game to play."

The master of the house threw back his head and laughed tauntingly. "Now I know you're crazy!"

"Mr. Dufresne," Harper purred, "a little while ago you told me that you had only one gun in your possession—an automatic."

"Yes?"

"Perhaps you'd be interested to know that you own another weapon, a revolver of large caliber. This was usually kept in the upper right hand drawer of the highboy in your dressing room. Early this morning that revolver was still in its place. It has since disappeared. Can you tell us anything about that?"

Dufresne looked at him out of a face suddenly sobered. "I own no such revolver," he stated firmly.

"Your butler, Andrews, says that you do."

"Ring for him. We'll soon get to the bottom of that," Dufresne replied, sharply.

They waited in an uneasy silence until the butler made his appearance. Andrews stood looking from one to another inquiringly under his tufted white eyebrows.

"Andrews, what in the devil have you been saying to the police? Go on, Harper, you started this."

Harper faced the old man. "A little while ago you told me that Mr. Dufresne kept a revolver in a drawer of the highboy in his room. Mr. Dufresne denies that."

Andrews lifted his head. "I never saw such a revolver" was his calm statement.

Your Health

By Dr. R. S. Copeland.

The recent epidemic of "psittacosis," or "parrot's disease," as it is more commonly called, aroused a great deal of fear among animal lovers and persons desirous of keeping birds. Now comes the interesting announcement of the Rockefeller Institute of Medical Research, telling about the development of a vaccine against this unusual disease.

Five or six injections are made into the muscles. Though complete reports are not available as yet, this treatment is believed to give immunity or protection against the disease. The vaccine has been successfully used by several laboratory assistants who are constantly exposed to the dangers of this disease.

Though psittacosis is a rare and unusual disease and every precaution is used to prevent its occurrence, the possibility of an epidemic cannot be overlooked. The affliction is quickly spread by persons who have had contact with diseased birds. Since the complications of the disease are often of a severe nature, the development of this vaccine is of great importance.

The disease is caused by a germ given a big name, the "bacillus psittacosis." This dangerous agent is found in diseased parrots or other birds and may be transmitted to those persons who handle sick birds.

The disease, so rare it is, is often overlooked until serious and disabling symptoms appear. Occasionally it is confused with pneumonia, because the symptoms of psittacosis sometimes resemble those of pneumonia.

Psittacosis has been known for many years. But it is only recently that it received the wide attention of the medical profession and public. This changed attitude was brought about by reports from various sections of the country showing the widespread and serious nature of the ailment.

Fortunately, the disease is now more quickly recognized than in former years. In addition, certain legal steps have aided in decreasing the number of cases. Strict
